

Paco Manzanares

Paco has been skating since 1987 and still does it, just for fun. He competed at an early age and got podium places in Vert and Mini Ramp. He contributed with the Re:Skate skateboarding Magazine in 1992 and using the name, he started the online community reskate.com in 2002. Paco has served as MC for skate events since 1998; he has announced events like Xtreme Universe 2005 (with the Megaramp competition), X Games México 2007, Snickers Urbania in 2008, Pro Games in Chile 2012 (Mega Ramp 2.0 contest) and several national skateboarding championships.

Paco is also a marketing consultant and team manager for Converse México. He is developing a skateboarding Network in Mexico thru "Amor al Skateboarding," a leading community over Facebook. Paco has also contributed to several skateboarding media outlets like Gorila Magazine, Dropin Magazine, SK8 Magazine, Red Bull Skateboarding Mexico, and he is a Skateboard Analyst for the TV Show "Adrenalina XTreme" (from Televisa Deportes Network in Mexico and Latinamerica), since Jan 2012.
